SECTION - A (Reading - 15 marks)

Q1. Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions by choosing the correct options:

- (i) Organic farming was being practised in India years ago till the British ruled it. In traditional India, agriculture was practised using organic techniques, where the fertilizers, pesticides etc. were obtained from plants and animal products. Organic farming was the backbone of the Indian economy. Ploughing was done by bullocks and cow dung was used as manure.
- (ii) During 1950s and 1960s, the ever-increasing population of India and several natural calamities led to a severe food crisis, as a result, the government was forced to import food grains from foreign countries. Several hectares of land were brought under cultivation. Hybrid seeds were introduced. Natural and organic fertilizers were replaced by chemical fertilizers and locally made pesticides were replaced by chemical pesticides. As time passed by, extensive dependence on chemical fertilizers has led to loss of land fertility. Pests are becoming immune, requiring the farmers to use stronger and costlier pesticides. Due to increased cost of farming farmers are falling into the trap of moneylenders.
- (iii) Both consumers and farmers are now gradually shifting to organic farming in India. Many farmers in India are shifting to organic farming due to the domestic and international demand for organic food. Organic farming, therefore, provides a better alternative to chemical farming. Today more than 2.5 million hectares of land is under organic farming in India.

Q2. Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions:

Ever since she burst into the scene by making it to the 1980 Moscow Olympics as a 16-year-old, P. T. Usha’s tall deeds have exemplified Indian sporting excellence. The sprint queen was so consistent for well over a decade that she was truly the flag bearer who helped countrymen live the dream of rare sporting excellence in the international arena.

Hailing from a remote village called Payyoli, Usha became an icon for sport lovers. She made the nations well with pride, every times she stepped on to the track. She gave unalloyed joy to her fans when she became the first Indian woman to make an Olympic final.

Usha’s greatest moment was also the most shattering in her life as she was pushed to the fourth place in the 400 metres hurdles final at the 1984 Los Angeles Olympics. The Romanian Christina Cojocaru won the bronze medal. Usha lost by an agonizing 1/100th of a second. But every Indian household acknowledged the sense of achievement, though it fell short of India’s first Olympic medal from the track. Several girls born during the 1980s were named after the golden girl. It serves as an eloquent testimony to the love and affection many people had for Usha.

Usha’s reign as the Asian sprint queen was highlighted by her snapping up five gold medals and a bronze at the 1985 Jakarta Asian track and field meet followed by a sensational four gold medals and one silver haul at the Seoul Asian Games the following year.
