Passage

King Rahugana was travelling in a palanquin. Four palanquin bearers were running with the palanquin on their shoulders. The journey was long and when they reached near a well, a bearer said, "Your Highness, we are thirsty. We'll have some water and be back soon."

One of the bearers was so tired that he could not take another step. He ran away from there. Now only three bearers were left. The problem arose as to how the palanquin should be carried. Just then they saw Jadbharat coming their way. The king said, "Catch him! Make him carry the palanquin."

Now Jadbharat started carrying the palanquin on his shoulder in place of the fourth bearer. The king continued with the journey. But he was not comfortable. Sometimes the king's head would hit the side of the palanquin, sometimes he would tumble from side to side. The king said angrily to the bearers,

"Walk properly." All the three bearers pleaded, "Your Highness, we are walking properly, but this new person is not walking properly."

The king scolded Jadbharat, "Why are you walking like a dead man?" Jadbharat replied, "My dear king, I am at least walking but what about you? You are making others carry you. A man is carried like this only when he is dead."

On hearing Jadbharat's words, the king immediately got off the palanquin.

I) The bearers put down the palanquin near the well because _____

1. the king wanted to rest.

IV) Why did the king scold his bearers?

1. The king could not look out of the palanquin.
2. The king wanted to reach his destination soon.
3. The king's head was hitting the sides of the palanquin.
4. The bearers refused to carry the palanquin.

V) Why was Jadbharat asked to lift the palanquin?

1. Jadbharat was very strong.
2. One bearer had run away.
3. Only Jadbharat knew the road ahead.
4. The king liked Jadbharat
